Polishing the Mariner 1995 Volume 83

Harbor High School 221 Lake Avenue Ashtabula, Ohio 44004 (216)993-2553 Enrollment:600 Advisor: Ms. Jill Thurston (right)Homecoming candidate Lauren Pavolino gives the camera a winning smile as she waits for the parade to begin.

"Polishing the Gold" was the theme that we chose for the yearbook because we wanted to exemplify the fact that our senior class was the first of the new century to graduate. We acccomplished this by jumping into the '90's. The beginning section of the yearbook is in color-a first in this century of Harbor's history.

When asked what she thought about the theme "Polishing the Gold", Junior Jayme Shores felt that "the gold doesn't change, but the appearance is new and exciting." The students of the new era are, underneath it all, like the ones that walked these hallowed halls for 100 years, sharing the same values, emotions, goals, and trouble. However, the attitude of new era students has drastically changed, shunning the beaten path to find their own individuality. "Out with the norm!"

Starting From Scratch

Under the direction of Kathleen Milford and assistant director Kave Peel, Brigadoon was brought together on long weeks of practice.

As the story goes, two hunters, Tommy and leff get lost hunting in Scotland. During their excursion they come across Brigadoon, a town living in the 18th century. Tommy (Peter Culver) and leff (lim Publicover) celebrate the wedding of Charlie (Scott DeCola) and Jean (Kristi Josson). Tommy falls in love with Jean's sister Fiona (Jennifer Kenyon) and Jeff is persued, against his will, by Meg (Cheri Richards).

Tommy and left visit Mr. Lundi (Gary Feiler)

who tells them the miracle of Brigadoon, At the wedding ceremony, the miracle is threatened by Harry (Ben March 2-4 after eight Costa), the rejected suitor of Jean. Harry is stopped when he is tripped by Jeff and dies. Tommy decides to stay, but is soon dissuaded by leff. At the end of the day, Tommy and Fiona must part.

> Back in New York, Tommy "canna" get over Fiona. He breaks up with his fiancee Jane (Tennifer Nardi) and gets Jeff to go back to Scotland. When Brigadoon is not there, Tommy and Jeff decide to return home. Suddenly, the town appears and Mr. Lundi takes Tommy to be with Fiona forever.

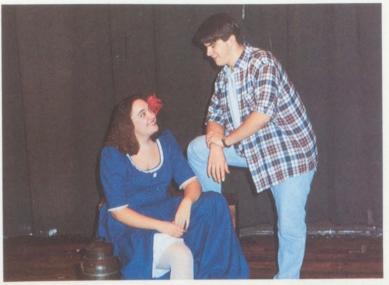

Gazing at "The Heather on the Hill" in the distance, Tommy (Peter Culver) and Fiona (Jennifer Kenyon) find true love.

Tommy (Peter Culver) and Jeff (Jim Publicover) laugh at getting lost in the woods, but finding what they've been truly looking for, happiness in Brigadoon.

Mr. Lundi (Gary Feiler) explains the history of Brigadoon from the Mc-Laren's family Bible.

Trying to seduce Jeff (Jim Publicover), Meg (Cheri Richards) gives him a preview of her pantaloons.

Jeanie (Kristy Josson) packs her corset as her friends gawk with horror.

Tommy (Peter Culver) daydreams of Brigadoon, as Jane (Jenn Nardi) realizes their wedding is off. Posing as a farmer, senior Katie Balmford "utterly" comforts senior Kari Mongenel by milking her before she gives blood.

Showing their support, Julie Hathy, Allison Ruuska, and Tiffany Condon stand by Kari Mongenel.

Unlike others who fear giving blood, Jason Olson shows interest and watches the Bloodmobile nurse take his blood.

"I'm not going to watch." says Bridget McEndree, a participant in the blood drive.

Gritting her teeth in agony, Julie Surbella stares off into space as a release for her pain while the Bloodmobile nurse works on her arm.

Blood n' Guts

Harbor students learn the importance of giving

It was a life or death situation at Harbor High School. Looking around the halls we saw ghosts, goblins, and blood sucking vampires. Some went to extremes by dressing as a cow or even a garbage can. Every year, the Student Council sponsors a costume contest, but another spirit was at work on this special day.

Across the street they took your blood, literally. At the Red Cross Bloodmobile, Harbor's students showed the true spirit of giving. Many students were afraid to donate blood for the first time, but they quickly found that the procedure was not that painful. Mrs. Hedberg has generously organized the blood drive for many years.

Blood on Halloween had many effects. Harbor's blood donations saved over nine hundred sixty lives and added a bit of excitement to a creepy day.

Rising to the Occasion

October eighth was filled with joy as Amy Price was crowned Homecoming Queen. Upon being asked if any competition existed between Amy and her twin sister Lisa, she replied, "No! If Lisa would have been crowned, I would have been happy for her, too!" The court consisted of Amy Price, Lisa Price, Katie Balmford, Tiffany Condon, Stephanie Ferguson, Lezley Ozbun, Lauren Pavolino, Allison Ruuska, and two foreign exchange students, Brena De Miranda and Barbara Zanone-Poma.

Prior to serenading Mrs. Andrews, band member Renee Campbell pins on her corsage.

Speaking for the National Honors Society, senior Marleen Allds presents Mrs. Andrews with an NHS blazer.

Dedication

It was not a Christmas assembly, but a dedication ceremony that started with the band playing tunes from Frank Sinatra, her favortie entertainer. The National Honors Society gave Mrs. Andrews an honorary membership pin and flowers. Model United Nations, to which Mrs. Andrews was an advisor, presented her with a gavel and plague. The yearbook announced the dedication of the 1995 Mariner to her and the senior - Keisha Johnson & Gary class presented her with a Feiler mantel clock. Special thanks went to Mr. Roskovics who organized the celebration.

During Mrs. Andrews' 25 years, she showed compassion, not only for the students of Harbor, but also for the faculty. Mrs. Riley recalls, "On my first day as a teacher, she made me feel a part of Harbor." Mrs. Hedbera states she was, "The most well-read woman who saw life with a sense of humor. She was an affirmer. Love the lady."

Examining her gifts, Mrs. Andrews cherishes her final day at Harbor after more than 25 years.

Faculty Triumphs

What did last year's volleyball tournament have in common with this one? The answer is simple: The faculty persevered and won again!

The cheerleaders started off the business club's annual tournament by challenging the football players. Following this match, the football team played against the golf team. The result was another football win. In the end, however, the faculty triumphed with a smashing 22-10 defeat over the football players.

When asked how she felt about the win, Miss Jill Thurston said, "It was an exciting match. The faculty team was extremely strong, and the football players certainly held their own. But it was inevitable—we had to put them out of their misery. Some people may have seen me cowering away from the ball, but don't be confused. It was simply a defensive game strategy set up by my fellow players—I'm really not a chicken."

At the bitter end, the awards were given out to various players. Mr. Tim Tallbacka of the winning team received the Golden Spiker award. Best Server went to Senior Mike Farmer of the football team. The golf team's Andy Meschko was named Most Valuable Player. And, to no surprise, the Best Dressed Award went to the cheerleaders.

The faculty would like to wish the students better luck next time. —Caryn Thurston

Non-Conformed Fads

The styles of Harbor High and from person to person. Each style has a group of followers to it, and a few individuals cling to and create their own "new" style.

Although Harbor may be behind the fads of some of the world, students here are way ahead of each other. Each year the competition in style continues, and this year was no exception. From colored hair - a fashion to simply change appearance or, for some, to produce a rainbow effect- to tattoos and body piercina. the fads march on individually, as do those trying to produce them.

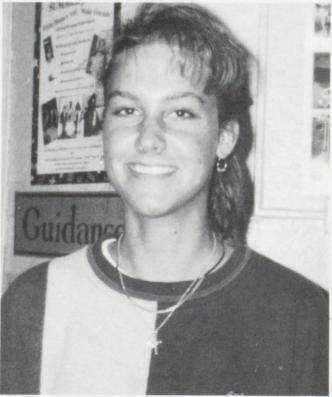

The different wardrobes change from year to year, of each style ironically had the basics in common. Flannels and plaids were popular, along with work and combat boots, and the expensive name brand of Dr. Martin, Skirts were the extreme - very high, usually with thigh or knee highs, or extremely long. Long-john shirts under T-Shirts was another popular trend. Flashes of gold, usually in excessive amounts, could also be seen as a fabulous fashion trend.

> The style of the 90's was to be an individual person. At Harbor, an outburst of individualism in all styles was expressed. -Jennifer Leonard Sandals and work boots were a big hit, along with an occasional toe ring.

Work boots were a popular item with many, as displayed by Brad Agnew's fashionable feet.

Music of the Night

"Music of the Night" from Phantom of the Opera was the prom theme. A giant keyboard that everyone wanted to play was focused. Iunior Brian Force said, "It was a laborious job, but we realized it was well worth the time." Music notes and fountain pedestals added to the nostalaia and what about those balloons! The seniors had an exciting time ripping down balloon drapes and running them around the dance floor. The balloon-popping celebration made for a wonderful finale that no one will forget. The entertainment was provided by two local bands that added to the party-like atmosphere. Students sang along to songs like "Mony Mony" and "Mary Moon" and danced until the balloon-popping commenced. Junior Heidi Braat said, "The bands gave a concert that made it unique." -Chris Lengyel and Jayme Shores

After being crowned king and queen of the prom, seniors Mike Rhodes and Chris Lavallie give each other a kiss.

Dancing to the "Music of the Night" the seniors enjoyed the prom that the junior class sponsored for them.

Performing for fellow prom-goers, seniors Ray Sharpe, John Mitchell, and Mike Rhodes ham it up on the dance floor.

Having a ball at the prom, juniors Megan Malinowski, John Wheelock, and Zarema Arutyunova dance to the bands.

Cutting Loose

After years of imagining were given by senior what their graduation would be like, the class of 1995 finally experienced their commencement exercises on Tune l in Fawcett Gymnasium. Before the ceremony, senior Julie Hathy said, "It will be sad to see my friends go, but it's time to move on. We're all ready for something new."

All Teed Up!

Golf proved to be a mental sport as well as physical and demanded the skills and discipline of every team member. Many fresh and exciting faces graced the golf team. "I thought we did pretty well considering there were only 2 returning lettermen," said senior Jerry Hastings. Although the team was young, it put forth excellent effort, proven when ALL-NEC team members were inducted.

Coached by Rick Bryant, the varsity team consisted of seniors Andy Meschko and Jerry Hastings; juniors Jason Cevera and Joel Ford; and sophomores Jared Ford and Jacob Pallutch. The most improved player award went to sophomore Jacob Pallutch. Senior Andy Meschko was voted most valuable player and was also a part of the ALL-NEC second team. Along with Andy on the ALL-NEC second team were senior Jerry Hastings and sophomore Jared Ford.

Juniors Tony Bernato and Mike Narducci played on the junior varsity team, along with freshmen Brad Best, Matt Williams, John Tiscenko, and Doug Meschko. Many of the junior varsity players rotated the varsity games in order to experience and prepare for varsity level matches. Freshman Brad Best had this to say, "It was a great learning experience. I'm looking forward to playing varsity in years to come."

The golf team had a challenging year. Although their record was not the greatest in the history of Harbor High, they tried their hardest and had fun while they were at it. When quoted, junior Joel Ford had this to say: "We started the season off with a positive attitude and ended it that way." -Joel Ford

Making a Comeback

Where can you find 13 guys out running mile after mile in the hot Auaust sun? Look no further than the Harbor boys' cross country team. With seven freshmen and only three upperclassmen, Coach Dean McQuaide and Coach Warren Dillaway had their hands full. When asked about his experience, junior John Sivak commented. "I felt our season was a lot of fun as well as a good learning experience. We made a lot of good memories that will last a long time. I personally reached goals I am hoping to build on next year, and I'm really looking forward to a areat season and a successful finish." The team was led by senior captain Peter Bracht, who said this: "This year's runner's started running together more as a whole team towards the end of the season. With all the young talent coming back, we'll be a strong force in the league; we have a 'running start' on talent. The boys were glad "Legend" Dean McQuaide returned." End-of-theseason awards were presented to junior John Sivak for Most Valuable Runner and sophomore Ryan Ellis for Most Improved.

Golden Stars

Courage. Dedication. Concentration. These were the most important traits of our eight girls' cross country runners. Training was strenuous for everyone because the races were a grueling 3.1 miles long.

Although the girls did not have a great year on the scoreboard, they found that cross country was a wonderful experience. "Cross country was exciting and sometimes even fun. It helped me to get into shape and also put some discipline into my life," said sophomore Mindy Mead. Junior Liz

Balog thought that "the girls definitely had the most fun!"

Among those who earned special recognition was Junior Sheila McCarthy, who received the most improved player award. Also, first year runner Mindy Mead lettered and was chosen as the most valuable player. Junior Ami Fagnilli, a first year runner, stated, "We all worked hard as a team both at running and at having fun. This brought us together and made us a close group of friends."

Effort and determination help Mindy Mead to get across the finish line. Mindy is our most valuable player for the season.

A hairpiece of leaves brings Sheila McCarthy good luck in the race. It must have worked because Sheila was voted the most improved player.

Shining Stars

The 1994 football season had its high and low points, but in the end the highs overcame the lows. Although the football team did not accomplish its goal to be undefeated, they posted a record of 7 wins and 3 losses. The team finished the season in a second place tie for the N.E.C. They also succeeded in winning the City Series Championship.

From the scrimmage game at Champion to the final game against Edgewood, the team tried its best. Many players received local honors. These members included: Josh Shepard, Mike Rhodes, David Hall, Ray Sharpe, Jason Mitchell, John Mitchell, Mike Farmer, Frank Fortune, Ron Cole, Herdy Christian, and Mar-

Senior Marcus Mc-Caleb also received honors for rushing 1,000 vards and setting a new Harbor High School record for the most points scored during a career. Josh Shepard also set a school record with the most passes for touchdowns in one season.

Hard work and determination helped to make this season memorable. The winning record and the awards received by the players were accomplished the Mariner way, through 110% effort 110% of the time.

The Mariner wrestling team was what coaches refer to as a rebuilding team off of a rebuilding team. Many fresh faces joined the ranks during last season, and this season was no different. With all the new blood, the team's captains had their work cut out for them. The wrestling team was led by senior captains Kermit Butcher and Chris Peterson, and junior captain Anthony Weir. Despite the fact that they exuded less experience than they hoped for, the season went well for the Mariners who finished second in the Ledgemont Tournaments, third at Grand Valley, and seventh in the NEC. Sophomore Chad Fortney finished third in the NEC, while fellow sophomore Shane Lester and junior Mark Licate finished fourth. Unfortunately, no one aualified for the District Tournaments; however, the Mariner wrestlers are looking forward to a banner season next year. At the winter awards banquet, four wrestlers were recognized for their outstanding performances: sophomore Chad Fortney received the award for Most Valuable, sophomore Shane Lester was named Most Improved, senior Bill Brown was named "Mr. Hustle", and junior Anthony Weir took "Wrestler of the Year." the throne as the new head basstart out as planned with the team losing five out of the first six games; but because Coach Craft did not give up on the team, they started to win. And as the old saying goes, "Winning isn't everything; it's how you play the game." Unfortunately, the Mariners beg to differ. Athough they played the game well they still continued to lose. On the bright side, the highlight of the season was winning the City Series. As senior varsity player Dan Wakeman put it: "We had a shaky start; but Coach Craft, assisted by Coach Tallbacka, got us

The beginning of a new era start- through the season the best they ed this past November as Coach could. We finally put a winning Dan Craft stepped up and took streak together through January, and we were right up there in ketball coach. The season didn't the number two spot. The team fell apart after a loss to Conneaut in late January, and we unfortunately never came back from that loss. The team would like to thank the coaching staff for all they did. Also, thanks to all the fans who came out to root us on through the good and the bad times." # Just the Beginning

Tennis is a serious sport of pure physical strength, aggressiveness, and wit. The 1995 Harbor High tennis team had a hard year. There were very tough teams in the North Eastern Conference, and games were often canceled because of rain or illness. But in spite of the odds against them, they played the best they could. Because of many freshmen this year, the tennis team will definitely improve next year. The Most Valuable Player for the season was freshman Sean Allds and the Most Improved Player was junior Josh Branscome.

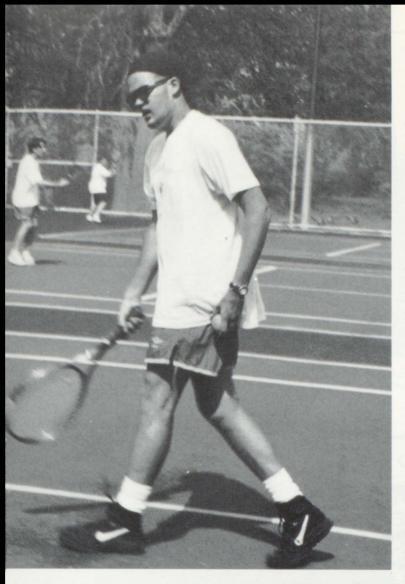

Sophomore O'Dea Mahan had this to say about the season: "The Harbor tennis team had a tough year. We never had a permanent lineup because of injuries and illnesses. The team was overwhelmed by the freshmen, so hopefully we will have a good team next year. I think this year was just a warm-up for the next!" -Scott DeCola Loosening up before the big game, sophomore Jason Tobias throws the baseball back to home plate.

Showing the camera an excellent form, senior catcher Josh Shepard catches the ball with ease and grace.

The Mariner baseball team warms up by throwing and catching to prepare for their big game with Harvey.

"Put me in, Coach! I know I can do it," begs freshman Dan Mozingo.

Better Late Than Never

The Mariner baseball team started its season with high hopes of challenging in both the NEC and state with their outstanding pitching and defense. Ironically, the season turned out to be somewhat of a roller coaster ride and claiming defeat was often only due to a one-run situation where the Mariners would fail to score. Another key factor in their losses was the inconsistency of their pitching and hitting working hand-in-hand. Though their efforts were mighty, the Mariners accumulated errors which caused them to produce a record of 12-12 overall and 9-9 in the NEC

The Mariners won the City Series Championship, which included an exciting come-from-behind victory over rival St. John. The season ended as the seniors helped pull the team together to knock Jefferson out of first place. Senior Josh Shepard led the Mariners' charge in the bottom of the sixth inning as he scored the tying run. With the game on the line, senior Tyler Matrisciano sparked the Mariner offense with a two-out single. Using his speed and baserunning intelligence, Tyler quickly stole second and third. Sophomore Iason Tobias then delt the final blow, as he hit the game-winning single that grounded the highflying Falcons. This victory proves the Mariners had the desire and talent to rise above the challenging obstacles and win. -Missy Miller

A Whole New Ballgame

The softball team should be extremely proud. They had a hard, nerve-racking year. and they set a record by winning seventeen games and came in fourth place in the NEC. During the Sectional Tournaments, the airls defeated Edgwood and Harvey. They moved on to try to defeat Newton Falls, but came up with a loss. Junior pitcher Theresa Bodnar had 121 strike-outs this season. Another plus for the team was the new dugouts and Turface for the field. The team nicknamed it "Bodnar's Stadium" since it had the same Turface as Jacob's Field. Both Coach Paul Bodnar and Billy Delprince worked on making the field the best that it could be. Receiving awards at the Spring Sports Athletic Banquet were: freshman Mindv Marino, Down and Dirty: junior Laura Jones, offensive MVP; junior Theresa Bodnar, defensive MVP; and senior Lezley Ozbun, Golden Glove. During the Senior Classic All-Star game in Iefferson, Kelly Van Buren was MVP. -Wendy Koeth

Taken By Surprise

The Harbor girls' track team had a long, injurious season. Despite all the injuries, the girls had a tremendous record. They had a lot of work to do, and many had to run races unfamiliar to them.

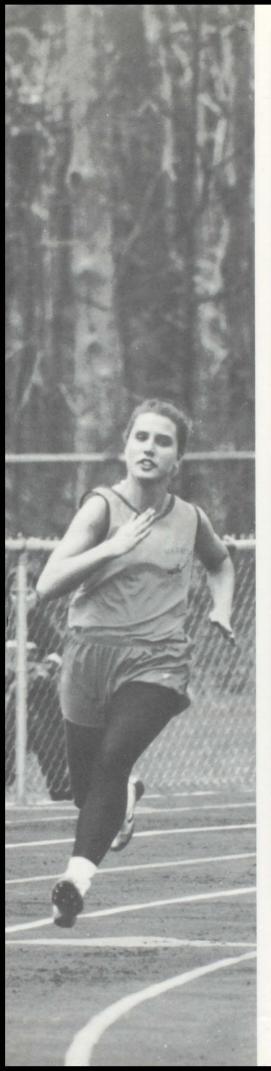

Senior Katie Balmford came back from a terrible knee injury to soar on to Regionals and win an MVP. All season long, she conquered opponents in the shotput and discus. When it came down to crunch time, Katie won in discus at the district competition.

Included among the numerous injuries was junior Megan Malinowski who, until her serious and painful injury, was a stand out in almost all of the relays. According to junior Sheila McCarthy, "All of this season's injuries really held us back from fulfilling our potential in many events. It really hurt our relays when we lost Megan to a leg injury and Michelle Cevera who was in a season-ending car accident!" -Megan Malinowski and Sheila McCarthy

An outstanding track and fielder, senior Katie Balmford prepares to hurl the discus.

Hurdling along, senior John Mitchell wins the race for Harbor as senior trackmate Bill Brown catches up.

Sprinting as fast as he can, sophomore track runner Todd Matriciano stays ahead of an Edgewood runner.

Getting ready to hurl the shot put, senior Marcus McCaleb stretches while he waits for his turn.

Keeping the Pace

The Mariner boys' track team was quite successful in district, regional, and state meets, despite their season record of 3-6. Head Coach Dean McQuaide and Asst. Coach Mike Gentene helped their team strive for victory. Although there were many injuries, the Mariners pulled together, oftentimes depending on the underclassmen's strengths. Senior John Mitchell was the district champ in both the 110 and 300-meter hurdles. The 4x100meter relay team, consisting of senior Herdy Christian sophomores Todd Matrisciano and Tim Tulino, and freshman Fred Schwentker, also competed in the finals at the regional meet. Other highlights of the season were when senior Marcus Mc-

Caleb threw 158 feet to place him 6th at state and winning the Geneva Night Relays. Matrisciano broke the school record with 22.6 seconds in the 200-meter dash and also received the Most Improved Player award while McCaleb and Mitchell shared the Most Valuable Player award. Harbor's track team is expected to be one of the leading contenders in the NEC next season. They were a young team and will be able to balance out their strengths and weaknesses. When asked his opinion, Marcus McCaleb said, "Track is the most fun sport at Harbor because you get to meet a lot of new people, and you also get to show your individual talents!" -Missy Miller

Catching the Wave!

The one thing that terwomen, but the Jun-"set" the volleyball ior Varsity posted a team apart was teamwork among all fifteen as well. Losing only two members. Although the games, the girls were Varsity's record did not NEC Champions! accurately reflect the girls' abilities or potential, they refused to let that affect their over-all goals. Working hard in practice, the airls wanted to improve individual skills as well as the team's performance. At the conclusion of the and dedication paid off.

The future of Harbor volleyball appears there nine returning let-commendable season

All things considered. the volleyball season was a successful one for all the airls. Senior Katie Balmford earned First Team All-County and Second Team NEC, while junior Michelle Cevera received Second Team All-County season, the hard work nomination. More importantly, the players learned the values of team unity, hard work, bright. Not only were and dedication.-Katie Balmford

The Varsity volleyball team listens intently as Coach Frank Roskovics gives them the game plan.

In Memorium

Angela Victoria Fuller November 21, 1976 - November 13, 1993

May she live on
In the hearts
And minds
Of those who loved her
Forever.

- Julie Hathy

Senior Class Officers: Katie Balmford, pres.; Marleen Allds, vice-pres.; and Lisa Price, sec./treas.

Proud to be a band member, senior Centuree Campbell shoots her smile.

Mrs. Andrews

Memories bring such smiles
Of someone very dear;
As she has moved to retirement,
We are still left here.
Her life has moved her onWhich means from our's she is apart;
But we do not dwell on her absence,
For she will remain forever in our hearts.
We are not worried, and we do not cry,
For we've found a way to make it through:
We carry her spirit and enthusiasm
In everything we do.

Someone as greatly admired as she
Merely "steps away" from her occupation,
For we now live what she has left:
Her heartfelt motivation.
Mrs. Andrews will never retire from our lives.
Although she has left these empty halls,
She can never truly leave
For she's remembered with love within these walls.

Polishing Our Act

With all the effort students spend running around worrying about the extra activities at Harbor, let's take a time-out to look at the academic side of Harbor, No. one seems to remember the main objective of high school. Harbor has an excellent academic program. Our classes run from the basics of math and English to the more challenging courses of ITV Latin and calculus. The students at Harbor have a wide variety of classes to choose from to go along with the required courses of every year.

Check It Out!

"What do I want to do with my life?!" has been a common dilemma for teenagers for eons. However, many students pass up the chance to visit the Ashtabula County Joint Vocational School when they are given the opportunity. They just don't know what they are missing when they do! With so many different industrial programs, one is sure to find something of interest. Attending ACIVS can change a life for the better because it helps people get ready for the "real world."

ACIVS offers programs like carpentry, cosmetology, auto mechanics, welding, electronics, electricity, precision machinery, drafting, and the list goes on and Vocational education is a wonderful way to get a diploma and career passport for the future. Anyone who is given the opportunity to visit ACJVS should do it. What a way to go!

Looking Into the Future

Believe it or not, math is dents get help from the very important out in the real world. It can help during a shopping frenzy, at work on a job, outstanding business and even when eating in a restaurant. Math accounting, shorthand, teaches everything computer and Business from how to calculate Law. Business teaches the square root of some students specific skills astronomical number to that will help them surhow to succeed in the vive in society--like how business world. new classroom "graphing calculators."

Harbor also offers classes such as typing,

Quickly typing their warm-ups, freshman Kelly Tackett and sophomore Katie Ketchum prepare for timings. Every typing student at Harbor remembers with fondness these moments of anticipation.

Ready to start his timings, freshman Donnie Massucci waits for Mrs. Horton to start the clock. Learning about the world of business, seniors Lisa Price and Kari Mongenel, junior Keristy Vanyo, and sophomore Missy Miller diligently wait for their homework assignment.

Graphing in Algebra II can be tough, but lucky for freshman Brad Best that he has a graphing calculator to help decipher tricky problems.

Roughing It

Harbor added a new and exciting class to its curriculum. The yearbook/journalism class was the first of its kind in many years. Classroom teacher and yearbook advisor Miss Iill Thurston had a goal to transform regular students into cut-throat journalists to get their vearbook finished. In the fall, both fourth and sixth period classes began selling advertisements to area businesses, which helped them to brush up on business communication skills. The students also had textbooks they worked in to learn how to design yearbook layouts and write interesting copy. During the winter, the two classes were finally able to put their newfound knowledge to the test. With Miss Thurston's help they began to compile the yearbook. These students soon learned that creating a book from scratch was hard work and required a lot of time. All the struggling and sweating paid off in the end, however, when they ended up with a finished product that will be remembered for years to come! -Kristy Josson

Lights! Camera! Action!

The Harbor Choir really polished their act. Under the direction of Mrs. Kathleen Milford, they reached new goals. They visited area nursing homes many times. The choir also performed at the farewell assembly for Mrs. Andrews' retirement. In the spring, the members made an exciting trip to Nashville where they performed at Oprvland. "I think the Nashville trip really brought the choir together," said sophomore Pam Monroe. The choir, as a whole, developed a better image and a better attitude for themselves. # Tuning up

It takes dedication to be in band. The concert band was busy as usual this winter and spring. Receiving straight ones at the district contest. the band prepared for state competition. The Tennessee trip was also a highlight of the school year. After a long drive down to Nashville, the band performed at Opryland U.S.A. The group visited the Cumberland Science Museum, the Oprvland Hotel, took a cruise on the General Tackson Showboat, and spent a day at the amusement park in Opryland. The band then traveled to Jackson High School for state competition. The jazz band performed at the area elementary schools, the band booster reverse raffle, the POPS concert and the Country Club Retirement Center. The ensemble also participated in the Lakeland Tazz Fest and the Tri-C Iazz Fest where they learned new techniques, and many of them participated in a iam session with students from other schools. The band played music that ranged from big band iazz to oldies. -Christie Frey

Breaking New Ground

The German Club had some new surprises, especially for its senior members. First, a change from the democratic form of representation to an appointed committee occurred. This committee consisted of only German III and IV students: juniors Jason Ables and lackie Laine and seniors Marleen Allds, Kermit Butcher, and Manon Grugel. The second shock came when the French Club defeated the German Club during the soccer match. A fouryear victor, this was the first time the German Club lost a match. On the flip side, there were no surprises at the traditional German Club dinner, where students brought German dishes that they made themselves. -Gary Feiler Enthusiasm was lost on the French Club. "I tried, but the students just didn't respond." stated French Club advisor Mrs. Carole Swogger. Although the French Club was not very active. they did manage to celebrate Mardi Gras and take a trip to Cedar Point. Mrs. Swogger hopes for more to happen next year. -Keisha Johnson The Latin Club consisted of all the Latin students at Harbor, Ashtabula, Jefferson, and Edgewood. This interactive television class enabled the course to be offered to all four schools. The Latin Club did not participate in as many activities as other clubs, due to the fact that it was difficult for all four schools to meet together very often. However, these meetings provided a chance to get to know students from other schools, meeting at different restaurants such as Pizza Hut and the Olive Garden. -Stephanie Williams Lights! Camera! Action! Is running a news service hard? Ask any member of Harbor Happenings, and they will say "Yes!" Despite all the hard work, the staff always had a good time. Embarrassing moments such as talking candidly when the camera was rolling or silly moments like singing along with the music made it fun. Harbor Happenings was an educational experience advised by Mrs. Lynne Montgomery that showed how news becomes broadcast. Junior Stephanie Brayman felt that "Harbor Happenings was fun, educational, and a great way to start the day!"

Taking Part

Holiday parties were the best part of CALC Club; for instance, at Halloween, they played Twister and paraded around school to show off their exciting costumes. After taking three difficult years of math, it was nice to have a reward during your senior year. From hugging trees on Earth Day to picnicing at the beach, the CALC club had the best time!-Mandy Jenne Being a part of the Art Club was a fun and rewarding experience. Most students who take art class join the club in order to benefit from the extra exposure to the world of art, but some just enjoyed going on interesting field trips. Whatever their motives, the Art Club students made the most of this activity.-Melanie Korovich The Industrial Arts Club annual canoe trip, which was planned by Mr. McCunn, highlighted the activities for its members. Funds were raised by a candy drive, which also provides money for new equipment for the class. The last fun activity was a chili-dog Christmas party--how original!-Mike Van Norman

More Than Fogging a Mirror

On March 30, members of the Business Club departed Ashtabula for their annual trip to New York. They encountered exciting places like Ellis Island, Wall Street, the Federal Building, the U.N. Headquarters, Radio City Music Hall, and Rockefeller Center. About the stock market. chaperone Mr. Craia Haywood had this to say, "That's my home. I love watching the stock market." Summing up the trip, senior Bridget McEndree stated, "It was a great experience altogether, but I wish I had run into somebody famous!" -Julie Hathy WANTED: SENIORS! NO EXPE-RIENCE NECESSARY! Graduates, that is. That's what many believed JOGS was for - to get a job. Ms. Maureen Mottley, job specialist at Harbor, helped seniors expand their knowledge of the working world by teaching anything from how to write a resume to learning career abbreviations. Senior Shenale Garner stated, "It taught me a lot about the work force." Ms. Mottley also helped seniors prepare for the next step - college. Sounds like a lot for one person, but Ms. Mottley said, "I love it. These are my kids. They keep me going." Junior Achievement consisted of students from all over Ashtabula County who ran businesses of their own. Each student was sponsored by businesses such as ACMC or Ashta Chemicals to help them begin. "Junior Achievement is a great experience and alot of fun. # Leaving Home

Being a member of AFS meant supporting cultural change. Because of Harbor's AFS program, local families had the opportunity to host foreign exchange students, and members were given the chance to study in nearly any country. AFS is not all work and no play. In December, Harbor hosted a pot luck dinner for the combined AFS organizations. This activity allowed all local AFS members to get acquainted with each other. Officers and exchange students from the four schools held joint luncheon meetings where students listened to speakers discuss their experiences in foreign countries.

Harbor hosted two foreign exchange students. Barbara Zanone-Poma, who came from Italy through AFS, was hosted by the family of sophomore Nick Bodnar and senior Angela Bodnar. Harbor's Brazilian exchange student, Brena De Miranda, stayed with the Floyd Tackett family. Brena and Barbara were able to do some sightseeing in Washington D.C. Both girls agreed that their fondest memories of America were of the friendships they made here at Harbor, especially at the school dances and sporting events. -Manon Grugel

Learning Pays Off

In order to be eligible for membership into the National Honors Society, a student must be nominated and approved by faculty members on the basis of character, scholarship, service, and leadership. The society's main purpose is to provide service to the community. Harbor's NHS group projects included participating in the Adopta-Family program at Christmas, assisting the American Red Cross in making emergency medical packs for teachers, selling daffodils for the American Cancer Society, and helping handicapped children enjoy taking a swim at the YMCA. They also aided in establishing a Junior National Honors Society chapter at Columbus Junior High. -Manon Grugel

The Scholastic Bowl team consisted of six seniors. These members practiced twice a week and worked very hard to prepare for the Scholastic Bowl at Edgewood Senior High. Unfortunately, they lost in the first round to a tough Grand Valley team. Advisors Mrs. Barbara Josson and Mr. David Kohler said they are looking forward to building an even better team next year. -Kristy Josson Excited about being initiated into the National Honors Society, junior Zarema Arutyunova shows her pride.

Congratulated by senior NHS member Jason Yost, junior Theresa Bodnar is inducted into the society.

Returning Champs

The Model UN had yet another exciting year. With most of the members being rookies and new advisors, the veterans had to start from the beginning. In just a short period of time, they had to prepare the Delegations for the November Conference in Jefferson. On top of all this, the returning veterans had to live up to their image as returning champions.

One of the best things about Model UN was the trip to New York City, which was taken to help prepare the students for the Kent State Model UN Conference. They even got this information from actual United Nations' representatives. Harbor students also had the chance to see a taping of talk show "Late Night with Cameron O'Brien," which was just one of the many highlights of the trip.

The Kent State Conference was the three-day stressful, neverending, but alot of fun conference that will remain in the memories of those who participated. Even though tensions were high, everyone admitted to having fun at the delegate dance.

Although the Kent Conference was the last for a few of us, Model UN will always remain near through new friends and great memories. Model UN taught us to stand up for what is important and be individuals -Kelly Alleman Living it up in Planet Hollywood, Jason Yost, Steve Tsetsos, Kristy Josson, and Jennifer Pauler toast good times.

Just clowning around, senior Model UN veteran Jenn Leonard poses with some local businessmen.

Caught in the act, Molly Sorohan and Jim Publicover attempt to leave the chaperones behind in New York City.

After a big dinner in Little Italy, Jim Publicover, Manon Grugel, and Kelly Alleman savor the atmosphere.

Making Drastic Changes

The "Mariner Magic" marching band had a productive year with many changes and rewards. They were due to the hard work of the members of the band.

Because of the loss of graduates, the band director Mr. Earle Heusinger had to change some of the members and their instruments. Junior Sara Pugliese says, "We took the changes and made them into what we now have, a smaller but more successful band."

Six girls joined the flag line. Along with new routines, the girls had to put extra effort into learning marching techniques, showmanship, and group performance. Flag line Co-Captain Jackie Laine said, "Having new girls on the line is sometimes difficult but worth the extra practice."

Some of the rewards that the band received were from the Nordonia competition that they attended. The Marching Mariners came home with the first place and the best-in-class trophies in auxilliaries, field commanders, and percussion. The band also received second place at the competition in Brunswick. "We worked hard and it obviously paid off," said junior Bryan Tarantina. -Jose Rodriquez and Mandy Jenne

Row 5: Katie Fagan, Carrie Hall, Trinity Tackett, Liz Taylor, Co-Captain Jill Meaney, Co-Captain Jackie Laine, Aubrey Niemi, Michelle Ocilka, Holly Finlaw, Siobhan Alexander.

As the music begins, senior trumpet player and Band Captain Peter Culver leads the band to Hey Jude while Jason Yost plays the French horn. The Mariner Majorettes "drive" the game to victory in their prehistoric Flinstone's wear.

Special Delivery

Many students worked diligently in Harbor's three offices as office aides. In order to become an office aide, a student must have filled out an application. After being selected for the job, these office aides dedicated much of their time and energy, sacrificing a much-needed studyhall. Running errands, answering phones, sorting schedules--they did anything to help out! But it was all worth it because working as an office aide could be fun and rewarding. "Being an office aide is fun--at least it's better than sitting in studyhall!" exclaimed junior Theresa Bodnar Fellow junior office aide Sheila McCarthy said. "It makes me feel so useful. . .as if I have a purpose. It also gives us a chance to really get to know our secretaries and advisors. I just love it!" Although it was fun sometimes, there was hard work involved. Junior Zarema Arutyunova said that "being an office aide is as much fun as it is work I'm very glad that I got to know Mrs. Andrews before she retired " -Heidi Braat

Delivering a message to Mrs. Josson, senior Allison Ruuska wants us to get out of her way!

Take a Bow

A special thanks goes out to all of those local business patrons and parent/student patrons who play a big part in making this yearbook possible. Without their contributions, Harbor High School would not have its own important book of history to enjoy.

Another special thanks goes out to those yearbook students who worked so hard at getting these advertisements. Sophomore Kristy Josson and junior Tonya Miller were the topsellers that helped to bring "Polishing the Gold" into publication.

The foundation of the community of Ashtabula lies in the hands of the people and the lives they make together. Many of these lives are spent serving the community--from medical care to ice cream sundaes. We need to remember to support those people who spend their lives supporting the community in which we live.

Thanks again for making it all possible! -Jill Thurston, Advisor

Freshman Jodi Petro and Lisa Debevec dream of one day becoming McDonalds' employees. Harbor students diligently use their shining personalities to raise money for the police.

One of the many businesses that employ Harbor students is Telecom, where you can find this smashing group of gentlemen.

It has been our pleasure to support Harbor High for the past 83 years. This is our final ad before we close. We wish continued success to Harbor High.

As the year came to a close, a new century began - 101 years of Harbor High School. It was a rebirth for Harbor as the seniors stepped up to the stage to receive their diplomas. A feeling of closure overtook those students as they walked away from Harbor with memories of their favorite classes, their first Homecoming, football games, class tournaments, and the junior-senior prom. As the seniors said good-bye to four years of Harbor history, a new class began to step up and take their place, ready to make their own memories. Keep Polishing the Gold!-Miss Thurston

Aloha! Junior class tournament cheerleader Jackie Laine, Angela Guerini, and Deanna Rodriguez send a little taste of paradise our way.

Portraying Mr. Lundie in Brigadoon, senior Gary Feiler rehearses with senior castmate Jennifer Kenyon.

Representing the Harbor Merchants, Mr. Joe Cook presents a certificate which honors Mrs. Eleanor Andrews, our retiring secretary.

Going up for a jump ball during class tournaments, senior Marcus McCaleb and sophomore Chris Turchetta face off as their teammates anxiously wait.

Sorting through multitudes of pictures, senior Jenn Leonard designes a spread for the yearbook during journalism class.

COLOPHON

"Polishing the Gold," the 1995 Mariner, was printed by Herff Iones Yearbooks of Shawnee Mission, Kansas, Press run was 315 copies for volume 83. Mark Potteiger served as company representative. Miss Jill Thurston advised the publication with the help of Mrs. Alice Fritts.

The cover and theme concept was created during a brainstorming session in 6th period journalism class. The nova text (silver) snow cloud cover has an amethyst foil application and a gold metallay raised surface. The cover and spine are printed with rich gold silk screen paint. The text paper is 80 pound bordeaux. The endsheets are navajo stock with pearl heather ink. Of the first sixteen pages, eight are full color (a first!) and eight are spot color.

The artwork on the cover and throughout the book was designed by the yearbook staff.

The body type and caption type are stymie light. The headline types are souvenir light italic, souvenir demi bold italic, and newbury. The folio type was done in stymie bold.

Yearbooks were sold for $30 before Valentine's Day and $35 after that. The publication was financed by $4,663 in advertising and $2,258 in candy sales. The staff also held a carnation sale, a candy bar sale, and a school-wide auction.
